BellaFresh48 Overview

BellaFresh48 offers new parents an easy way to document their time with their new baby, beautifully. No over-posing, no backdrop, just real life moments and gorgeous baby details to remind us of this precious time for the rest of our lives.

What is BellaFresh48?

Fresh 48 is a natural documentary style of photography. Customers love our short, relaxed sessions and our real-life, artful galleries that evoke the emotions of the first days with baby.

Female owned & operated

BellaFresh48 began as an idea after the birth of founder & photographer Bella Jordan's baby Otis in 2014. "Feeling pretty spaced out and overwhelmed, I took only a handful of photos of my baby between feeds, visits and sleepless nights. I look back on those precious images with so much love. They bring back all the feelings of joy & wonder! I recognised a need for short, relaxed, empathic photography sessions which could include the whole family." Bella Jordan - Owner

How are we different?

As a reliable, professional team of mum photographers, we are distinct from the commercial in-hospital baby photographers. Our sessions are short & relaxed. We don't use props, pose baby or use sales pressure. We treat each session individually, working with how mum and baby are feeling to create a truly beautiful, yet affordable, bespoke gallery of images.

Target Audience

Our Core Customer: Millennial & Gen Z Parents

Age 24-42, our customer values authenticity, emotional connection, and memories over perfection. They're having fewer children but investing in parenthood more intentionally. Many have experienced fertility journeys or are first-time older parents, making newborn photography deeply significant.

What parents want in 2026

Real moments, not posed or dated

In 2026, new parents are looking for beautiful documentary images that capture genuine emotion and offer a snapshot of their first days with baby. Generic plain background shots are now tired & dated.

Short, relaxed & easy

Birth can be exhausting and overwhelming. A 20 min relaxed session with no poses, props, or sales tactics respects new mums' wellbeing

Affordable luxury

Professional quality at accessible price points
